Introduction

I am a driven and enthusiastic UX/UI designer and a recent graduate of BDes (Hons) Interaction Design. I have an eye for detail and enjoy designing intuitive polished user interfaces. Alongside UX & UI have a keen interest in illustration and interaction design. I enjoy getting involved in every stage of the design process, and always strive to learn new skills to better myself as a designer. I actively attend UX, Women in Tech and Digital design meet-ups in Belfast.

Experience

UX/UI Designer, loyalBe

June 2020 - Present

At loyalBe I am the sole designer, I lead the design of the product and the UX strategy. Core parts of my role include; designing the various user interfaces (websites, native apps and customer dashboard). I carry out user research and usability testing while working closely with the development team on feature development. Maintain our design system for the core areas of our product and helping to shape the internal feature development process as a whole within the business. I am also responsible for all areas of graphic design, creating social media assets and promotional materials for both print and web. My job is to improve the quality of interaction between loyalBe users/customers and all aspects of loyalBe, including at each touchpoint.

Graphic & Digital Designer, Ulster University Belfast

September 2019 - April 2020

Edited and designed the Ulster University website using Squiz CMS. Carried out user testing of the website to ensure it meets user experience expectations of students and staff. Created promotional materials such as email banners, social media graphics and brochures and leaflets for campus events.

Design Intern, Snack At Franks

July 2019 - September 2019

Worked within a start-up company to help generate creative concepts for promotional purposes. I developed graphic design and illustrative work using Adobe Illustrator, InDesign and Procreate.

Web Design Intern, Ulster University Jordanstown

September 2018 – July 2019

Worked within the University's CMS to design and implement the web pages for Employability & Careers to align with the University's new brand guidelines. I designed graphics for both web and print to promote career services. Illustrated designs for print for instituted wide employability initiatives. Developed front-end design skills as I worked on various website redesigns on both the Employability Student Portal and also the Staff portal.
